
The supplement is DOCUMENTS IN AMERICAN LEGAL HISTORY SINCE 1876, which is available on TWEN.

The first class session will take place on Wednesday, August 23. (We will not hold class on Monday the 21st. Columbia is expecting large crowds and serious parking problems on the 21st because of the Solar Eclipse. Better to be in the safe side. Besides, the Eclipse is history.)

For the first class session, please read pages 1-17 in the supplement; scan the Table of Contents for chapters 21-33 in UF; and begin reading UF 507-522, 531-535. Be prepared to discuss this introductory question:

“Why should law students and lawyers study American legal history?”
(In other words, “Why are you taking this course?”)
