Law Electives (15 credit hours) :

Each student chooses electives according to his/her interests and statement of purpose for enrolling in the LL.M. in Dispute Resolution program. NOTE: Some courses may not be offered in some years.

- Arbitration (if not taken as a core course)
- Conflict and Conflict Management
- Cross-Cultural Dispute Resolution
- Dispute Resolution in the Digital Age
- Emotional Intelligence in Law
- International Commercial Arbitration (if not taken as a core course)
- LL.M. Externship
- LL.M. Independent Study
- Mediation (if not taken as a core course)
- Mediation Clinic
- Negotiation (if not taken as a core course)
- Practicum on DR Training and Education

Other Suggested Electives:

This list includes some recommended electives from the Truman School of Public Affairs because of their obvious relevance to the dispute resolution field.

- Group Dynamics and Conflict Resolution
- Organizational Analysis and Change
- Organizational Change in a Community and Global Context
- Organizational Dynamics and Leadership

* Class offerings in the Truman School of Public Affairs may have limited enrollments, with first priority going to students in that program of study. These courses are generally online.

NOTES:

- Some courses may have limited enrollments, consult with Karen Neylon before making a final decision.
- For additional course options, see law.missouri.edu/students/schedules.html.
- Up to 6 credits can be taken outside of the Law School - this includes classes taken in another MU department (such as Public Affairs) and classes taken at another university for transfer credit. Please see the LLM Handbook for policies regarding transfer credit.
